The funeral of Mr. George Cox, of Auburndale, who passed away early last week from cancer, at the age of 59 years, was held on Friday last, interment being at the Auburndale cemetery.

Deceased, who is one of the early settlers of that district has been a sufferer for years, and was recently taken to the hospital at Vermilion for treatment and relief, but death occurred as stated.

The Rev. T. E. Armstrong, of Wainwright United Church took charge of the service, and the pallbearers were all old-time neighbors.

A large number of floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the late Mr. Cox was held. He was a bachelor, but a sister (Mrs. Bailey, of Kinross) was with him for a short time before he passed away.

Tampering With R.R. Is Serious Offence

Nine young town lads were brought before Police Magistrate Millar on Friday last charged with tampering with railroad property by stealing a handcar, interfering with a railway switch, and other things.

After giving the boys a stern lecture proving the charge, a strong lecture was given the boys, two of whom were given stiff fines, while all of them must report to the police weekly for one year as well as attend their church once each week for the same period. They are also ordered to be off the streets by nine o'clock each night.

Luckily the split switch was discovered before its use was necessary or a serious accident might have occurred in the yards.

Murray and Cowley Win Consolation in Mixed 'Spiel'

Monday evening saw the final games played in the consolation event of the mixed bonspiel at the curling rink, and after some hard-fought games the prizes went to the G. A. Murray rink which defeated the McBride aggregation in their last tussle, and the rink skippered by Vic Cowley who took the Mitchell rink into camp for the final draw. Tough luck, Lorne, after winning the first two games the same evening—just can't take it, eh?

Norma Shearer Stars in Riptide at Week-end

Class for the intelligent, smartness for sophisticates, a sparkling, tastefully conceived, acted and presented picture for the moderns; all-around interesting entertainment for the regular rank and file—that's "Riptide."

Starting on the adventure just for a lark, gay Mary, a Park Avenueite and the staid English noble Lord Rexford marry. For several years she is deliciously happy with her husband and child. Then on the Riviera she meets Tommie, flame of the gay days. Under the spell of the Mediterranean moon and breezes, Mary is the innocent victim of a romantic escapade that makes the headlines and scandal sheets. None of Mary's explanations will soothe Rexford, nor can Tommie help the breach. Cold indifference drives Mary, who fights against it, closer to Tommie.

Later Rexford learns through his secretary that Mary was telling the truth. Calling for her to come to him in Cannes, Rexford wants to wipe the slate clean, but now it's Mary's turn. Deciding on a divorce, husband and wife meet in Rexford's drawing room. She is about to surrender all rights to her child, when—

This is the first Norma Shearer picture since "Smiling Thru." It features elaborate settings, glamorous local and beautiful gowns, and is truly an enjoyable entertainment.

It shows on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 26th 27th and 28th at the Elitte.

Rev. C. N. and Mrs. Bateman were in town last week to attend the Anglican church conference which was called by Bishop Burgett.

Owing to the death of Mr. Geo. Cox of Auburndale, the auction sale as announced by Mr. Bill Stuart has been postponed until further notice.

W. C. Fields in 'It's a Gift' Mon., Tues., Wed.

Presented at the theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 30th, 31st and April 1st is your favorite W. C. Fields in "It's a Gift". From start to finish it's a laugh. Gags that follow fast and furiously in dialogue, action and situations, are the basis of all the fun-making.

Bismonte, a failure at running a country grocery store, comes into an inheritance which enables him to realize his life's dream, a California orange ranch. Bought through a sales pamphlet, and also as a means of furthering the romance of his daughter Mildred and salesman John Danton, he auto-caravans to the state of lemonade, wells and rocky candy mines. His beautifully depicted orange grove is a sun-baked desert and the junk of a broken-down shack but when fortune is at its lowest ebb, along comes a race track promoter to buy up the ground at a fabulous price to make Bismonte a Midas.

An enjoyable picture with plenty of wholesome fun. It's W. C. Fields at his best. Shows on the first three days of next week at the local playhouse.

KING Edward is starting out as a style just as good a salesman for British Empire products as he was when he was Prince of Wales. He went to a commercial exhibit of Empire-made goods the other day. He stopped at a booth where they were showing pipes made on the Island of Malta, and bought a couple of them. The Maltese product was that the Maltese pipe makers were swamped with orders—enough to keep them busy for a year and a half. He admired some African ostrich feathers and wondered why the ladies had stopped wearing them in their hats. A big boom in ostrich feathers started overnight.

He has often, wondered why the fashion for ostrich feathers went out so, autophony. I imagine the war had something to do with it. I remember when no lady considered herself well-dressed unless she had two or three "willow plumes" in her hat, which cost $15 or $20 apiece or even more. I remember one night in a theater in Columbus, Ohio, when somebody stole two willow plumes from my wife's hat, which she had pinned to the seat in front of her. That set us back about $35.

TITHES abolished

One of the laws laid down in the laws of Moses for the Children of Israel was that every farmer was to give one-tenth, or a "tithing," of his income to the temple and the priests, and the practice of tithing was continued for many centuries after the beginning of the Christian era.

England in 1712 to provide a fund called Queen Anne's Bounty, to support poor churches whose members could not afford to pay the minister a decent living. At that time the tithes produced about $100,000 a year. They have grown, with the increase of farm incomes, to about $11,000,000 a year and the farmers of England have been protesting against them for a long time.

I have always thought the founders of the Republic were very wise in providing in the Constitution that there should be no relation between the Federal Government and any

(By Margula James for Reader's Digest)

Franklin closed his second winter of experiments with "a party of pleasure" on the bank of the Schuylkill. Going to the opposite side of the stream he sent a current across lighting a pan of brandy. Then he electrocuted a turkey and roasted it on a spit made to revolve by electricity before an electrically kindled

The following summer Franklin prepared to devote the remainder of his life to science. Selling the greater part of his business enterprises, he retired to a roomy suburban house. Outside the windows of his workroom Franklin ran a chain to keep back the curious. So many people

Franklin finally attached a concealed wire to it, and after giving one of two audiences a stiff shock, this sort of trespass diminished.

Continuing his experiments of the effect of electricity on the bodies of animals and men, Franklin knocked down six men who submitted themselves to the discharge from his

Leyden jars. And he almost killed himself by accidentally making a circuit that sent "an immense charge" through his own head. Such experiments led him to reflect upon the similarity between the effects of electricity and lightning. The prevailing scientific explanation of lightning was that it was due to the detonation of a mixture of sulphur ous and nitrous gases, producing an explosion not unlike that of gunpowder.

After a number of observations
Franklin wrote for his friend Peter Collinson in London an epochal paper comparing electricity to lightning and proposed a test to draw lightning from the heavens by means of a metal point on a spire. (The want of an object tall enough * prevented
Franklin from trying it in Philadelphia, he said. Collinson read the paper before the Royal Society and suggested that it be published in the Transactions of that body. The experiments were voted down in derision.

Meanwhile the ex-editor decided that a kite flown into actual contact with a thunderbolt would be the better way of determining if lightning bolts, indeed, were electricity. Fearing ridicule in event of failure and possibly death in event of success, he kept the project from everyone except his son William—who was not the small boy shown in many schoolbook illustrations but a young man-about-town of 22 with an expensive taste in clothes.

June thunderstorm father and son fared forth carrying a kite covered with a silk handkerchief. From its side projected a stiff piece of wire at a point to attract the lightning.
When they had the kite high in air the Franklins took shelter under a cowshed at a corner of the green.

There Franklin had a Leyden Jar in his hand, which he hoped to store any current that might be produced. He knew that that should come down the wet hemp cord to which a common latch key was attached. Beyond the key the portion of the cord which Franklin held in his hand was of silk, a non-conductor.

The sky was now alive with lightning and thunder was almost continuous. But for what seemed a long time nothing happened, and Franklin was beginning to fear that nothing would happen when suddenly the fibers on the hemp cord bristled like the tail of an offended cat. To all appearances the cord was charged with electricity, but the way to find

Franklin stretched forth his knuckles, so accustomed to electricity, and felt no shock, not knowing whether in the act he was about to become the alive or the dead.

Next morning he consulted his friends, and they only agreed on a harmless little experiment, the crack from the feel of his hands.

Franklin knew that it was electricity that he had drawn from the clouds. He did not know however, how lucky he was, for he had not been killed.

As soon as the news of his experiment reached Europe, kites were flown everywhere, and Professors and Philosophers of St Petersburg were killed as he brought his hand in contact with the lightning.

The daring experiment focused the eyes of the world on Benjamin Franklin. Europeans linked his name to those of Galileo and Newton. The Royal Society of London, which had decided his proposed experiment elected him to membership. The following year, in 1753, the medal of the Royal Society was carried across the ocean by the newly arriving Royal Governor of Pennsylvania, Captain Denny. The presentation took place at the Governor's mansion amid a flow of oratory and Madeira. The Viceroy got tipsy and gravely confidential.

reference to laws is divided under three heads. First, the laws must be good; second, the citizens must obey them; third, when they have no law governing certain conditions, men are good citizens if they act in accordance with what is just.

Chilo, another of the wise men of Greece, laid down these principles of conduct: "To make good use of one's leisure; to rule the tongue; to avoid the speaking ill of one's neighbors; to be content with what one is more prompt to go to one's friends than to one's enemies."

Measured by the wisdom of the Greeks, or the Egyptians, or the prophets of the Old Testament, we would be bold indeed to claim any evidence of wisdom in the laws of the United States. But let us turn, then, consider the other side of it. The best of us, in the infancy of the age of the earth, are somewhere between three billion and five billion years old. The population of the human race, according to similar guesses, goes back only about a hundred million years.

★ . . . Women and Children First

We have come a long way from that. The declarers of war and the commanders of armies are no longer exposed to danger. Their headquarters must be bomb-proof. They are far removed from the scene of action.

The next forward step toward logical warfare should be affected through an arrangement whereby majors, captains, and lieutenants may be kept out of danger zones. Also, non-commissioned officers and com-

Let civilians, especially women and children, bear the brunt of battle. Drop bombs on them, and thus confound the enemy by cutting off his supplies of bandages, knitted socks, and other necessities.

When this procedure becomes general, mothers, wives, and children instead of suffering the horrors of war indirectly and for long periods will have them over quickly and permanently. Events are moving in this direction. War is no longer a valorous business wherein men battle hand-to-hand. The killing continues; those killed first are women and children. The valor and the glory are gone.

VINCENT'S ANGINA

Vincent's Angina was first described in 1898. It is an important disease, and it has frequently been mistaken for diphtheria. It became comparatively common among the soldiers of the World War, when the condition was known as "trench mouth". Later, it was widely spread throughout the civil population.

Like other infections and communicable diseases, Vincent's Angina is caused by a living agent or bacterium. This particular disease is unusual in that it results from the combined action of two different kinds of bacteria working together as a team.

The disease rarely occurs in young children. It is during the high school years that it begins to appear. It may be either acute or chronic and the severity of the attack varies a great deal. The onset may be mild or severe.

The usual onset is marked by the appearance of a spot on the gums or cheek. This spot is tender and is covered with a whitish film which can be easily removed, leaving a bleeding surface. Unless properly treated, the condition spreads rapidly. There is slight fever with nausea. Usually, there is some pain on swallowing and the glands of the neck are swollen. The breath is offensive.

The prevention of Vincent's Angina depends upon keeping the mouth clean and healthy. This is not a guarantee that the disease will not occur, but it renders it much less likely.

The rapid spread which occurred among the soldiers was the result of conditions which made the transference of bacteria from one mouth to another much more likely than is the case in ordinary civil life.

The transfer may be by direct contact, notably in kissing, and in the use of common eating and drinking utensils which are not sterilized between uses. Since the war, the disease has continued its unusual prevalence, and some believe that it is actually on the increase.

The disease rarely occurs in young children. It is during the high school years that it begins to appear. It may be either acute or chronic and the severity of the attack varies a great deal. The onset may be mild or severe.

The usual onset is marked by the appearance of a spot on the gums or cheek. This spot is tender and is covered with a whitish film which can be easily removed, leaving a bleeding surface. Unless properly treated, the condition spreads rapidly. There is slight fever with nausea. Usually, there is some pain on swallowing and the glands of the neck are swollen. The breath is offensive.

FOR HOME WEAR

Pattern 8639, however we go and whatever we do, the shirtwaist frock seems to be the winning number. We don't a crisp little ginghams, or percale frock, shirtwaist model like the one sketched and our household duties move smoothly.

The attractive collar on this model is very flattering to the face and the waist, gathered softly and attached to the shoulder yoke, allows plenty of action. The short sleeves are just right with their casual roll-back cuffs and the skirt has the new flare which is smart this season.

Make this effective model in one of the new cotton prints for Spring.

Experimental Farms News

PROSPECTS FOR PEST DAMAGE

War is always being waged between the farmer and his insect enemies. Wheat growers of Alberta have three varieties of insects with peculiar pestiferous ways to contend with. These are: the well-known grasshopper, the pale western cutworm, and the wheat stem sawfly. The former two have frequently been the source of heavy losses to Southern Alberta farmers, the sawfly confining its depredations to central and more northerly sections. However, in recent years the sawfly has invaded the south and should be more numerous this year than usual south of the Bow River.

Grasshoppers are likely to be menacing in only three areas, the largest of these extending from Three Hills to Monarch, the second centering on Youngstown, and the third on Cowley. Also, there are several areas of severe infestation, one extending from Monarch to Nobleford; one from Cammagangy to Champion; and one centering on Nanton. On the whole, however, the grasshopper outlook is better than it has been since 1931.

Worse infestation of the pale western cutworm may occur in the following areas: Lomond to Monarch and southeast to Milk River, Schuler to Almont and west to Stonybrook and Brooks. If the wheat in dry losses will extend further west over a wide area.

SOIL DRIFTING

Strip farming, surface working of the land, and the use of cover crops are suggested by Dr. E. S. Hopkins, Dominion field husbandman, to overcome the menace of soil drifting in Western Canada. Dr. Hopkins says strip farming alone is not enough to control drifting. Besides strip farming, the land should be surface worked so that it is left either covered with stubble or with lumps that will not drift. A cover crop of spring seed grain sown at about 1/2 bushel per acre around August 1st stops drifting very effectively. The crop is killed by the frost but the top growth remains on the surface and holds the soil.

Western Canada is really seriously menaced by soil drifting, according to Dr. Hopkins. The sad experience of other countries that have allowed this condition to persist, should be the gold desert of North China, in size equivalent to that portion of the three prairie provinces reaching from Winnipeg to Banff and from the international boundary line to as far north as Peace River crossing has been largely created by soil drifting. Large areas of land once cultivated have become totally ruined while ancient cities have been buried completely.

PRODUCTION COST OF WEANLING PIG

"How much does it cost to produce a weanling pig?" This question is asked of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, across of times each year. Fortunately, the Lacombe Station is in a position to give a definite answer, as experiments carried on for years have uncovered a wealth of information on this important question.

The results of these experiments show that approximately one ton of chop for each twelve month period is required to carry a sow raising and litter a year, while 2500 pounds of chop will carry a sow raising two litters a year for the same period. These figures also cover the feed consumed by the young before weaning.

At present, most good grain mixtures for swine are worth about three-quarters of a cent per pound. At this price it would cost approximately $15.00 to feed a one-litter sow for a year; adding this to the overhead charges of $10.00 the cost to produce one litter is $25.00, or, for an average of seven, $3.57 per pig. The cost of grain for a two-litter sow is $18.75 and the overhead $13.33, making a total of $32.08 which, for a total of fourteen pigs, makes the cost per pig $2.29.

In other words, with the same conditions under which one litter per year is produced it is possible to produce two litters for $32.08, so that the second litter from a two-litter sow actually costs only $7.08, or $1.01 a pig.

There is still another plan—breeding for three litters every two years. The total feed cost for a sow under this plan is $33.75 for two years and the two-year overhead $23.33, giving a total cost of $57.08 for twenty-one pigs. In this case the cost of each pig is $2.72.

As many pigs will not regularly produce two satisfactory litters a year the Lacombe Station favours the practice of raising three litters every two years, or six litters a year from four sows.

"Overhead" includes interest on investment in breeding stock, buildings and equipment, and cost of service fees and feed supplements.

WHEAT TRANSPORTATION COSTS

An interesting compilation of the cost of shipping wheat from the country elevator in Alberta to British ports via Vancouver, has been prepared by E. A. Ureel, Port William, statistician for the Board of Grain Commissioners. In preparing this data the approximate average charges are used. The figures are as follows:

1. Handling at Country elevator including insurance against loss by fire and storage for 15 days; official inward inspection, weighing and registration fees; and selling to exporter on Vancouver market, per bushel 3.75 cents.
2. Railway freight rate from average western port shipping via Vancouver-Now Westminster terminal elevators, per bushel, 13.5 cents.
3. Handling at terminal elevator (including insurance against loss by fire or explosion and storage for 15 days); official outward inspection, weighing and registration fees and loading into vessel, per bushel, 1.5 cents.

4. Approximate average cost of freight and insurance, (marine and return), between Vancouver and British ports, (including rebating charges at Vancouver), per bushel, 11.75 cents.

Total approximate cost between producer and c.i.f. British ports per bushel of wheat, 30.5 cents.

HEAVY TRAVEL IS EXPECTED FOR EASTER

WINNIPEG, Man.—Bargain fare excursions from the prairie provinces to the Pacific Coast, good from April 3 to 11, taking in the Easter week-end, are announced by the Canadian National Railways. Fares for the Spring trip westward will be a cent a mile in coaches, a cent and a quarter in tourist cars and a cent and a half standard from Port Arthur to British Columbia points.

Similar fares are offered from British Columbia to destinations in the prairie provinces east to Port Arthur. Stopover privileges will be granted at Jasper and west on westbound tickets sold from Alberta to Port Arthur and at Jasper only on eastbound tickets sold in British Columbia. Excursion fares are good from April 4 to 11 inclusive.

Tickets will be good going and returning via the same line and route in each direction and will not admit of optional routes or side trips. With Easter falling on Sunday, April 12, these excursions bring a welcome break after the long winter.

Clean up, paint up week must be just around Spring's corner. It's time for the annual appearance of the joke about the lady who wanted some three color paint for her husband's barber pole.

Laryngitis is one of the most common affections of the throat. It may be acute or chronic. The latter is rare, I'm glad to say, because it strikes terror to me, the thought of tuberculosis of the larynx. My purpose in this sketch is to deal with the acute form only.

Most cases of laryngitis arise from slight variations from the normal, profound illness, with loss of voice and dangerous temperature. Diphtheria and croup are the most formidable of throat ailments of childhood. An old adage once said that the danger from warm air to cold should be gradual. Teach children to breathe through the nostrils, if suddenly exposed to cold. They will never forget it. And, be sure there are no aids to contraction.

Prevention is golden here. Keep the child's bowels freely open. Require plenty of drinking water, and good, plain, nutritious food. Air the house well during the day. The child should not be wrapped too closely. Cultivate tolerance for pure outdoor air but wrap the body warm. Keep feet and legs warm and dry especially. Treat the victim with wetting and inhalations of turpentine vapor, eucalyptus, or from slaking lime, until the doctor arrives.

Star's Garden Service

By GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

As grass makes most growth in cool weather any work with the lawns, according to the authorities, should be planned early. In this type of gardening one is dealing with something distinctly permanent. It is much simpler to correct all mistakes, especially concerning levels, before the seed is sown. On this account gardeners are urged to cultivate any spots where grass is to be sown, very thoroughly, to level by raking and rolling and to get rid of as many weeds as possible.

After digging or plowing, the ground should be allowed to settle for a few days at least, and then levelled again. If there is time it is advisable to repeat this process several times. The top soil should then be raked fine and the grass sown at a liberal rate, once across and once lengthwise. This double sowing insures an even distribution. For obvious reasons seed is sown on a day when there is no wind. In covering the gardener is advised to rake one way only and then firm the soil with a heavy roller or pounder.

Unless the ground has been thoroughly cultivated and then allowed to settle the year before there is bound to be a good deal of weed seed in the soil and some of this will germinate after the lawn is sown. Such weeds should be removed constantly, especially in the earlier stages. After that a good lawn fertilizer every year will push the grass along sufficiently to choke out most of these offenders. The first cutting of the grass is made when about three inches high and should be done with a very sharp mower. Frequent rolling when the ground is soft and regular mowing is advised.

Seed Catalogues Contrary to the humorous conception the seed catalogue is thoroughly reliable and is illustrated with actual photographs. These catalogues put out by the large firms contain much more than a mere mention of the many flowers and vegetable seeds. They specify important points such as time of planting, resistance or lack of resistance to frost, height, color, season of blooming, whether scented, and also the suitability of the flower for cutting purposes. All of these points should be taken into consideration in planning a real garden, authorities state, as only with such knowledge can a comprehensive and practical scheme be worked out. Little plants must not be hidden by tall things, and there should be as much bloom in the garden as possible from early June on. The most satisfactory planting, also will give plenty of material for bouquets and there should be some plants potted for their scent. A good flower garden is similar to a good library. It will reflect the individual preferences of the owner, and there will be something to fit every occasion.

First Vegetables Leaf lettuce, radish, spinach and the first of the garden peas will be among the earliest vegetables sown. These may be planted as soon as the ground is fit to work. All of the first sown seeds should be sown at least three times at intervals of ten days so that there will be a succession of vegetables. The second group to go in will be carrots, beets, onions, potatoes, etc., which can stand a little frost and then beans, corn and tomato, cabbage and cauliflower plants, etc. which kill with frost, and finally those hot weather vegetables like lima beans squash well started, egg and pepper plants, cucumbers, melons and similar things. All garden rules, it should be remembered, however, are only approximate, and should be varied a little to suit the local climate and individual preference.

When Soil Is Fit To Work Experienced gardeners warn against working soil too early. With clay it is especially dangerous to dig when there is too much moisture in the ground. Such soil is liable to puddle and when drying out it may bake. In any case there is no advantage and the work would have to be done over again later on. A good safe rule is to squeeze a handful of earth in the hand. If it compacts into a ball the enthusiast is well advised to go back and read a book for a few days. On the other hand if the soil simply crumbles when released by the hand it is fit for working.

PREPARING NOW FOR GOLF TOURNEYS

WINNIPEG, Man.—I feel confident that the Canadian amateur golf championships to be played over the St. Charles Golf and Country Club course here next August will attract the greatest entry list of good golfers in the history of the Association, said Robert Jacob, newly elected president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, on his return to Winnipeg over the Easter weekend. "We had an excellent meeting last week and there is a great feeling of optimism behind the officials."

"Already it is safe to say that entry from the northern United States points will be large and some of Uncle Sam's best amateurs will be here. Their presence will add a fine international flavor to the tournament. There will be a good entry from Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, with a number of crack American players from the Pacific Coast accompanying the latter party."

"We are making plans for the largest tournament in history and I fully believe the competition will be the hottest we ever had Ontario will have a strong team to defend the Willingdon trophy, but other provinces are so strong now that it is doubtful if any province can hold this trophy for more than a year or so at a time. Yes, 1936 looks like a big golf year," concluded the new president.

FIVE FURIOUS MINUTES

When the returns are in on the season's floods and dust storms we'll all think the old Dame quite a rouser—when she gets going. And who can tame her? No married men are expected to volunteer.

KNOWING WHAT THEY WANT

Even in the "time" business you have to know what the customers want and give it to them according to Ruby Vail. The New York Times recently quoted him as saying: "A good tune electrifies the night clubs. It gets into the blood of the man in charge of the party and loosens up the purse-strings."

He claims that if composer's profits are not protected by adequate copyright laws good tunes will soon be unavailable and he and others like him will be out of work.

Why do we like to see and hear others perform? It is not because there is, besides the fun and thrill, a putting of ourselves in the entertainer's place?

Chemists can find no difference in sweetness between cane and beet sugar but what a whole of a difference a little sugar makes in coffee, or conversation, especially the latter under certain circumstances. But too much? Sugar is sweet, but moderation is a wonderful word.

C.N.R. ARRANGING

FOR VINY PILGRIMS

VANCOUVER, B.C.—To facilitate the transportation of the hundreds of pilgrims who will journey to Viny next July and witness the unveiling of Canada's war memorial on the battlefields, the steamship companies concerned are requesting definite information on the number of advance bookings early in May, according to officers of the Canadian National Railway.

More than 3,000 war veterans and their dependents have made deposits on their passage already. Nearly 300 of these are from British Columbia. Such a mass movement requires considerable advance planning on the part of the transportation agencies concerned.

EVIDENCES OF RECOVERY
The best index of the state of business confidence at any time is the volume of business transacted in the New York Stock Exchange. That is not to say that the prices at which stocks sell always reflect the actual values behind them. What they do reflect definitely, however, is the belief of the business community as to whether business is improving, so that the stocks which they buy will have a higher value, or whether it is falling off, in which case they sell their stocks, fearing that they will diminish in value.

Up to the end of February in this year there had been 11 consecutive calendar months in advancing prices of securities on the nation's Stock Exchanges. Since the rise began, in March last year, the average price of 50 representative stocks moved upward from $77.82 to $119.21 a share. Three years ago every bank in the United States was closed. Since that time the average increase in the price of stocks has been 136 per cent. Last year on all of the registered national security exchanges 981 million shares of stocks changed hands. It is foolish to regard these stock transactions as pure gambling. A fair percentage of these transactions are purchases by investors who are paying securities dividends which enable them to earn more than bank interest on their surplus funds. They buy stocks and bonds rather than real estate because of the existence of the stock exchanges, providing an open market in which any security can always be sold immediately at a price.

The very best evidence of a genuine business recovery, and that the world of business believes in it, is the evidence provided by the record of the stock exchanges during the past 11 months.

THOSE AMAZING JAPANESE
To the American mind nothing that has occurred in recent years has been so amazing as the story from Japan of the assassination of several of the nation's high officials by hot-headed young army officers. The workings of the Oriental mind are beyond the power of most of us to follow. Apparently the soldiers who shot their statesmen were merely trying to protect against the anti-militaristic policy of the government, which has attempted to restrain the army's activities in Manchuria and Mongolia. It was a demonstration against the growing control of Japan by industry and finance instead of by the military caste. The leaders of the movement regarded themselves as patriots bent on restoring the ancient system.

One authentic tale of true heroism comes over the cables. The assassin was reported to have killed the premier of Japan, Kamekida Okada. Three days later Premier Okada turned up, alive and unharmed. The man whom the rebels had killed at his house was his brother-in-law and secretary, Col. Denzo Matsuo, who looked so much like the premier that, when he offered himself for sacrifice there was no doubt about his identity. That incident reveals another phase of the Oriental mind, its indifference to human life, even its own.

Altogether, the Japanese episode suggests that the nation is far from being a unit in its aggressive policy of conquest on the Asiatic mainland.

added with an enormous unemployed population, in account of a low average condition of national health, how can that country maintain a balanced trade with her neighbors?

National health, in the most important form of national wealth. Without it a Nation like an individual must live on decreasing assets. With a high average of national health, earning power and production naturally increase.

History tells of many instances where the barrier of ill health has been overcome through outdoor life and exercise by those who have become outstandingly prominent in national achievement. Long experience has proven that outdoor exercise is the best of all recuperative medicines, and of all outdoor exercises walking is the most important. In several colleges in other countries credit is given to the students on their courses for time spent in the theory and practice of walking.

Following the World War, Germany was the first to realize what the future required of a successful nation. With the money lent to her by the allied powers to enable her to re-establish herself, so that she could pay her war indemnities, she installed the most up-to-date machinery and methods in her factories; and encouraged vocational education. Thereafter she was able to compete with the allied nations in manufactured goods, she was able to repudiate most of her war debts.

Health might be called the "god" of the German Nation. At the present time national health receives more attention from her Government than in any other country in the world. The possible exception of Czechoslovakia and Japan. Every effort is being made to check hereditary diseases and to develop her children into sturdy self-reliant young men and women. Athletics of all forms are fostered on such a large scale that thousands compete at one time. Her most popular health-building plan is the "Youth and Out Into the Open" movement which places thousands of hikers on her roads and paths.

What are we doing in Canada? Are our leisure hours lost hours? In spite of the fact that the Government has invited outdoor exercise amid the most delightfully diversified natural scenery, we have made very little of this natural recreation area readily available in Eastern Canada for those of our people who most require it, modern-day change of environment from crowded city conditions. It is true that we have magnificent National Parks of large area in the West near our thinly populated districts, but our natural recuperative areas in the crowded East are mostly available at a price beyond the resources of those who most require them.

We have in Canada a vast army of unemployed on relief. Many of them are beyond the age when they are likely to ever again find employment and so will remain a perpetual charge on the Nation. Many have most of their lives before them. Are they keeping abreast of the times and prepared to accept an up-to-date position?

While other countries are sending their young men and women to free technical schools and carrying on research so successfully that in some instances they can turn out manufactured articles at a cost far below ours, we are sending our young men to relief camps where they come, in many instances, under the influence of Communist agitators. Even in these camps little or no use is made of those members qualified to instruct others. Some of our schools are equipped to carry on by correspondence. A small bonus for proficiency secured in vocational study while on relief would be a good investment. Average yearly earnings increase very rapidly in proportion to mental attainment.

China many years ago, led the world in mental and material attainments then stood still and worshipped the greatness of their ancestors. Japan not only carries on extensive research work in all lines of industry but annually sends hundreds of her brightest vocational students to seek employment in foreign factories and to learn, for the benefit of Japanese industry, all new discoveries and improvements. To prolong the earning power of her people and to decrease the national expense of caring for the unemployed, Japan fosters athletics to the greatest extent, with the result that in a very short period of time she has transformed herself into one of the most important competitive manufacturing nations in the world.

HINTS ON GROWING ASPARAGUS

Asparagus will grow on a wide variety of soils, but the warm, rich, deep, sandy loams with a clay subsoil are preferred as these soils are open and porous, permitting the development of an extensive root system.

Asparagus is a permanent crop, therefore it is advisable to give special attention to the preparation of the soil. Summer-fallowing land for one season and applying well-rotted manure in the fall is advised. It is important that land to be used for asparagus be free from weeds and grasses.

In prairie areas where winter frosts are severe, spring planting has given more satisfactory results than fall planting. Plants one year old have produced larger shoots and have produced crops for a longer period than have older ones.

Plant as early in the spring as the soil will permit, the plants being spaced 1 1/2 to 3 feet apart in the row. The crowns may be covered 6 to 7 inches deep in light soils and 4 to 5 inches deep in heavy soils, care being taken to spread the roots out in their natural position. Asparagus is not deeply because the crowns gradually grow upwards as the plants grow older, also it allows manure to be worked into the soil without injury to the crowns.

No shoots are cut until the third season, when only the stronger ones are used. Cutting may begin in earnest the fourth season. With proper care, asparagus will produce satisfactorily for many years. At the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask., the varieties Colossal and Argenteuil have been grown successfully in the same plantation for over 15 years.

Late in the fall of each year the top growth may be cut off and manure applied. This is worked into the soil every spring. The destruction of tops is advised for the purpose of helping to control diseases and insects.

The Alberta Gazette published the fact that the Buffery Farms Limited, of Wainwright, has been struck off the register of incorporated companies under section 158 of the Companies Act.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

REMINISCENCES OF OTHER DAYS

40 YEARS AGO
Mr. W. Carrell has been appointed one of the commissioners to attend the Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Toronto in June.

Due to the warm weather the farmers of the district are already busy on their land and are anticipating a good season.

A most successful card party was staged by the members of the Women's Institute last week when they had no less than fifty tables in play. The prize winners were Mrs. O. Michon and Mr. J. Tolmie.

It has been rumored that oil leases in the Wainwright field are being bought by the big British Trinidad company. This company is out after increased acreages and has already secured several holdings in this district.

Mr. H. Green has purchased the farm interests of Mr. H. Arthur of the Auburndale district.

The proposed federal government long-term rural credit plan with provisions for the establishment ultimately of co-operative credit societies such as exist in Ireland, Germany, and several other European countries, has been approved by the Canadian Council of Agriculture. The preamble of the resolution adopted sets forth the belief that "the ultimate solution of problems of rural credit will be found in the development of the co-operative societies controlled and operated by the farmers themselves."

Mr. George Baker is around again after a long siege in the hospital during which time he lost his leg by amputation.

Four wells may be drilled in the Wainwright field by the Western Consolidated Oil company this year, if present negotiations for finances prove successful, according to a statement issued by the president, Mr. A. B. Palmer.

Mr. Gardner Lewis has returned after spending the winter in his old home in Buffalo, New York.

Mrs. D. Rattray and Mr. David Rattray Jr. spent the week-end in Edmonton.

On Tuesday last Mrs. George Murray was called to Edmonton on account of the serious condition of Miss Florence Murray, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Royal Alexandra hospital. We are pleased to report that the patient is progressing favorably.

SYDENHAM

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Alexander were visiting on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McKay.

A meeting was held on Tuesday at the school house by the Trustees. Inspector Good was in attendance.

Mr. F. Dixon is having a new well drilled on his farm by Mr. T. Schieck.

Mrs. C. M. Alexander left for Vegreville on Saturday to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. G. Alexander.

Mrs. O. Croteau was a guest for a couple of days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Brassard.

Among those celebrating their birthdays this week were Mrs. O. Croteau, Mrs. C. M. Alexander and Mrs. F. Dixon.

Saturday was very like winter, with wind and snow blowing, although according to the calendar, it should be the first day of Spring.

20 YEARS AGO

The district military ball put on in the theater last Friday evening was the most successful event ever put on in the district to date. The affair opened with the Grand March formation which was most picturesque. The hall was decorated in military fashion with bunting and Union Jacks galore.

Mrs. M. Harpell, a bride of two weeks, and wife of "Mickey" Harpell of Wainwright, died in Edmonton following an operation.

Mr. A. M. Boyer has just installed an up-to-date Auto Genus Welding plant in his blacksmith shop and is prepared to do all kinds of work in this line.

It is reported that mobilization of the Wainwright soldiers of the 101st battalion will take place about the middle of May. They will go into camp training in Edmonton.

Mrs. F. Corbett was presented with a silver mesh bag by the members of the I.O.D.E. prior to her departure to Edmonton. She will later accompany her husband to England where he has enlisted in the Sportsmen's Battalion.

It is expected that there will be a large immigration from the Old Country following the close of the war, it was stated by Mr. Bob Harris who has just returned from England. The cause, he said, would be due partly to the high taxation.

With military honors forming a very impressive ceremony the funeral of Mrs. C. Walker, wife of Lance-Corp. Walker, was held on Friday. Mrs. Walker died following a slight operation in the Strathcona hospital.

Mrs. R. A. Snyder was among the town folk who took in the horse show in Edmonton recently.

AUBURNDAL

Sorrow on behalf of the people of the Auburndale district is expressed in this column on the death of Mr. George Cox, who was in their midst for many years and was well known to them all. Everybody feels keenly the loss of a faithful friend and good neighbor. Deepest sympathies are extended to the bereaved relatives.

A splendid Social Credit monthly meeting was held in the Autumn Leaf schoolhouse on Monday evening, March 9th. Mr. J. Little, the secretary, read out from the "Calgary Albertan" several columns relating to the 1936 Albert Budget; also quotations from Mr. Kilsen's book "A Scientific Solution For the Money Question." Mr. Kilsen being one of the greatest economists of the 19th century, and a passage was also read from the late King George's speech at the opening of the Economic Conference in 1933. Mr. P. Richardson, the president, gave an interesting discourse on "Life" and "Gold" the two elusive "mysteries" of the universe. There was a fair crowd in attendance and everybody enjoyed the interesting subjects under discussion as well as the sumptuous supper served by the ladies of the Group.

The next Social Credit meeting will be held on Monday evening, April 13th. Refreshments (topic and edible) will be served. Everyone invited to make the evening an interesting and enjoyable one.

Mr. J. MacKay is now ill in the hospital. The sad and appalling suicide of Horace Stevens, Mr. MacKay's friend and helper for the last year or more was a terrible shock to everybody.

Miss Irene Perkins and Miss Leone Rouch were week-end visitors at the Fraser home. They came with Bernice Fraser from Wainwright Friday to see the "Novelty Show" at Caron's hall the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Green visited in Edmonton for a few days last week.

Mr. W. Hetherington, councillor for this district, was one of a group of councillors who visited the Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works in Edmonton last week in connection with the proposed Highway between Wainwright and Vermilion.

The United Farm Women held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hetherington, on Thursday March 12th.

Rudy Feidler, Clarence Fraser and Ken Kennedy have all recovered from their attack of German measles, and Miss Lois Arthur is quite strong and well again and able to be around again as lively as ever.

Mrs. Ellen Wilson, Mrs. Cleland and Willie Cleland made a trip to Wainwright on Wednesday last, the weather man being in one of his gentle moods on that day.

Mr. Cleland recently had the misfortune to lose one of his best milk cows.

The Auburndale church was packed with sorrowing neighbors when the remains of Mr. George Cox were laid to rest in Auburndale churchyard on Friday afternoon last.

GREENSHIELDS

Mr. and Mrs. F. Preece returned from England on Thursday, where they have been since December.

The Young People's Club held their regular meeting Friday last. Dancing was enjoyed until the business meeting was held. After a dainty lunch served by the committee, a leap year dance was held. The next meeting will be held April 3rd.

Several persons in the district have been suffering from the flu.

Miss Hazel Wiley and Mr. Jack Davidson spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Duke Ott last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Greer and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson.

Rev. T. E. Armstrong spent Thursday visiting friends in the district.

Positive Proof---

The value of a fertilizer to your land, and the assured extra returns which are to be derived from such, is ably proven in the statements of thousands of prominent and successful farmers all over Alberta.

Among those who go on record as to the advisability of this assisting nature, the following comments are noteworthy:
HAROLD McLAUGHLIN, farmer, Spruce Grove: "After 7 years' experience with commercial fertilizer, I am convinced that its use is bound to be beneficial to any permanent system of farming. It tends to maintain soil fertility, helps to control weeds and aids the crop in resisting diseases and adverse weather conditions."

CYRIL C. GILLIES, farmer, South Edmonton: "First of all good seed. Then well-prepared land. I believe in the use of commercial fertilizer."

CHARLES ELLET, master farmer, South Edmonton: "It's going to be a hard job to get good seed wheat this year. It's very scarce. Well prepared land and use of commercial fertilizer will lead to good crops."

RALPH F. BLACKMER, farm lands, H. M. E. Evans & Co.: "Good seed, proper cultivation and commercial fertilizer lead to larger yields and better quality wheat which, in the end, produces profits. During the last few years I have found that the use of commercial fertilizer is of estimable benefit in the practice of good farming."

This Week in Washington

The boys on Capitol Hill are unhappy because they have got to figure out some new taxes—and no fooling. The word came from the White House that they must provide additional revenues of $786,000,000 a year for the next 3 years and $620,000,000 a year for the next six years thereafter. They knew it had to come some time, but they were hoping it might be postponed until after election.

The President has not told them where to get the money. They passed the legislation so they must figure out for themselves where the money is coming from. The biggest job that confronts them is working out new tax measures that will really raise the revenue required without letting too many voters realize that they have got to pay.

New Tax Outlook

It is regarded as practically settled that processing taxes similar to those under the defunct three A's will be utilized to provide a major part of the additional revenues.

The likelihood is that these taxes will be spread farther, over a wider range of commodities, taking in practically every agricultural product that has to go through any manufacturing process between the farm and the consumer. The hope of the boys is that the consumers won't notice.

A strong movement is under way to revise the income tax laws so as to draw directly upon incomes down to $800 a year. Politically this is not well liked, especially in view of the fact that an income tax on all wages and salaries is already on the statute books under the Social Security Act, to take effect at the beginning of 1937. Some heavier inheritance taxes will doubtless be included in the new set up.

The inflationists are taking advantage of the situation by trying to enlist more support for their plan of doing away with additional taxes by simply printing more money. That probably will not get very far but they may make a lot of noise.

A push is on also for legislation to restore the NRA standards of wages and hours of labor on Government contracts, but the chance is rather slim of any such action at this session.

Other Aches

A good deal of interest is being shown in proposals to change the present method of subsidizing American shipping. It is now on the basis of mail carrying contracts given to ships built by aid of Shipping Board loans, at the rate of $2.50 a mile, whether they carry any mail or not. That some other method will be substituted for this is reasonably certain, but the matter is now a political tangle, with the Postmaster General on one side and some of the Senators and Representatives on the other side.

The most unpleasant news to reach some of the boys on Capitol Hill was the announcement the other day that Columbia University had granted Rex Tugwell another year's leave of absence from his professional duties. There are those in Congress who lack confidence in either Mr. Tugwell or in his rural rehabilitation program, which is to cost $350,000,000.

$350,000,000 is a lot of money and there are a good many members of either House who can put up a good argument to demonstrate that he should have something to say about having some of that money spent in his own district.

With the fund in Tugwell's hands, the boys know it is hopeless to try to get it distributed in accordance with long-established political customs.

In other words, Mr. Tugwell does not play ball with politicians, and that is the real reason why the politicians don't like him.

The Political Situation

Politically, Washington seems to have its mind pretty well made up that Governor Landon of Kansas is going to be the Republican nominee. A great deal, however, depends upon Mr. Landon's acceptability to former President Hoover and his following, and to Senator Borah and his following. Very little evidence is at hand either way as to where these two figures stand in regard to Mr. Landon.

The Democratic strategy is beginning to develop. Nobody questions seriously Mr. Roosevelt's renomination. It would be silly to imagine anybody else heading the Democratic ticket this year. So far as here are any doubts they concern only his reelection.

On the point of re-election, the President himself has not the slightest doubt. Numerous recent visitors to the White House, some of them friendly to him and some of them opposed to him, have reported unanimously his extremely cheerful confidence that he will be re-elected in November.

The Democratic strategy seems to be to cultivate the confidence and good will of the conservative elements in business and finance. There has been quite a steady stream of business men in and out of the President's office recently, at his invitation. Many of these visitors have commented upon the reassuring tone in which he has told them that he was not trying to destroy the capitalist system but to preserve it by attempting to cure its defects.

It is on that point (the charge that he has been trying to destroy Socialism or Fascism for the existing capitalist system) that the Republicans are expected to make their major fight on the President.

MODERN WOMEN

CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

It is astonishing how rapidly the women of Brazil are gaining political recognition. Recently Dr. Maria Luisa Bittencourt, doctor of public law of the University of Rio Janeiro, on a visit to the United States, told how the younger women all over her country are working in social activities. "We have eighteen women in the Federal Assembly," said Dr. Bittencourt, who is only twenty-five years old, an ardent feminist and the first Assemblywoman in the State of Bahia, Brazil, "and we have three women mayors in Brazil." She is especially proud of the fact that Para has a woman in the office of secretary of education. South Americans are equally proud of Dr. Bittencourt's services in drafting an entire chapter in the new Constitution of Bahia.

"I propose to make a study of the power of the judicial review of the United States as compared with the highest courts of other democratic countries," is the way Mrs. Charlotte A. Haxton of Washington, D. C., announced her new work. It sounds like an enormous task, but Mrs. Haxton is equal to it for she has made a detailed study of every case before the Supreme Court and every decision rendered by that body. She is one of four American women to receive research fellowships from the American Association of University Women.

One woman who knows what it means to live on Devil's Island, the French penal colony off the coast of French Guiana, is Miss Irene Peyron, a Major in the Salvation Army. She went there in 1933, where she saw, and now tells about, how the prisoners suffer and are tormented by the terrific heat, insects and fever.

History must be revised and rewritten, so that the "forgotten women" will receive due recognition, is the plea of Dr. Mary R. Beard, publicist and author. She is planning to collect and preserve documents and other records of the lives, activities and achievements of the forgotten sex.

Nancy Hart's HOME NEWS

"Don't try to change your voice." That's the advice of Miss Claire Couch, prominent dramatic coach and teacher of speech.

"You are born with your individual voice—soprano, mezzo, or contralto—and are likely to injure your speaking apparatus by an attempt to change the timbre or quality. No woman should try to force her voice below its natural pitch," says Miss Couch.

She also suggests that many girls make a mistake in thinking that the rule about speaking softly means the use of low, throaty tones. Even a high soprano voice can be as soft and well modulated as a naturally low one.

Care in the pronunciation of words, and a pleasant natural, unaffected voice that best expresses one's individual personality, is more important to success than voice tone, according to Miss Couch.

Silk prints for spring are sprinkled with stars, vegetables, birds, beasts and fish. These are patterned like polka dots over the fabric and are so tiny that one must look closely to recognize their real form. One effective creation features white beads on a wine background. Flowers, too, are popular in the microscopic designs, and one can find chess men, flower pots, keys, and even the alphabet utilized in the dot technique. White on dark backgrounds is favored for daytime, with vivid clear tones and many colored effects in larger patterns for evening wear.

Glass sauce pans with which you can cook right over the flame are among the newer novelties to win favor. They are fitted with detachable handles so that the food can be served in the same container in which it is cooked. This makes for considerable savings in time and convenience, as well as fewer dishes to be washed. And there are glass matching covers to go with the sauce pans.

Do you keep a bottle of hand lotion on a kitchen shelf? A quick massage after each washing will help to prevent redness and "chapping" and keep your hands soft and white. Some of the lotion makers are now offering large, economy sizes so that their product can be used more frequently and, also, so that it may be used on the legs, ankles and knees during cold weather.

Spring meant tonic time to an older generation. Today it means greater attention to the importance of vitamins in the diet, for we now know that most "tonic" effects come from the vitamins in our foods. Milk, eggs, plus sunlight or cod liver oil, plenty of fruit, and the new green vegetables such as lettuce, celery, endive, parsley, cranberry and spinach will help supply your quota of spring tonic vitamins.

It's so simple you'd think it would have been done long ago, but a brand new type of metal kitchen stool just shown in Chicago's Merchandise Mart has a simple folding back rest that drops down completely out of the way when not needed and lets the stool slip easily under a kitchen table.

Handy kitchen hint: A damp cloth will enable you to pick up easily, the smallest fragments of a broken glass.

King Henry of England was so pleased with a roast his chef prepared that he drew his sword and knighted it on the spot. That's why we ask for sirloin today. King Henry made it Sir Loin!

EUROPEAN WHEAT CROP

A drop in the general condition of the European wheat crop is indicated by a survey made by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. The acreage is smaller in the first place and in many countries the crop has not wintered well. It is probable that there will be an increase in seedlings of spring wheat but this will be insufficient to offset the drop in winter crops, the Institute reports.

When Robinson Crusoe Made History

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted and put up an ad for one. He flung a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island, that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

The circulation was small—there was no other medium, but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no enquiries for a long time. He changed his copy—as one garment after another frayed out—and in the end got what he wanted.

Suppose Crusoe had taken down that signal after a time and declared, "Advertising doesn't pay." Where would he and his story be now?

Put up your signal and keep it there. Crusoe advertised under very discouraging circumstances. You have got a sure thing—it is only necessary to have the patience, persistence and pluck of Robinson Crusoe.

Beginning this week... The Goose Woman by Rex Beach. One of the finest short novels by this celebrated author. A powerful, fast-moving mystery story that grips your interest and never lets you down. The tense, dramatic story of love and hate, understanding and envy. A mother's hatred for her own son, and the final test that brings the story to a climax. There's not a dull paragraph in it.
